

Job opportunity: Senior Program Officer (Social Sciences) at National Academies

The Gulf Research Program of the National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine is hiring a Senior Program Officer to develop and manage programs or projects related to community resilience, health, and well-being.

The Senior Program Officer will join our small, top-notch team to support a combination of program and grant management and analytical work. The work will require broad training in the social sciences and familiarity with a range of theoretical approaches, methodologies, and quantitative and qualitative analyses.

Responsibilities include:

- designing and managing highly complex programs or projects,
- conducting workshops and meetings,
- preparing background papers and technical summaries,
- and serving as liaison between board/committee/panel members, the National Academies, and other applicable parties.

Read the full job description here: https://nas.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/en-US/NAS\_Careers/job/Keck-Center/Senior-Program-Officer--social-sciences---Gulf-Research-Program\_R0000060