

ASSISTANT PROFESSOR FACULTY POSITION ANNOUNCEMENT

Position Summary:

University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. The Department of Sociology invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor, to start as early as July 1, 2019. We encourage applications from scholars working in areas that complement and extend our strengths. Areas of research specialization are open, but we prefer candidates with research and teaching interests that include social inequality, organizations, work, and/or economic sociology. Successful candidates must exhibit strong and innovative research and show potential for excellence in teaching.

Submit letter of application, curriculum vitae, research statement, four letters of recommendation, and samples of recent papers and published work through UNC's online recruitment system. Applications will be considered until the position is filled, but our review of applications will begin on October 15, 2018. Women and minorities are strongly encouraged to apply. The University of North Carolina is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

If you experience any problems accessing the system or have questions about the application process, please contact the University's Executive Vice Chancellor and Provost office at (919)-962-1091 or send an email to facultyrecruitment@unc.edu. Please note: The Executive Vice Chancellor & Provost office will not be able to provide specific updates regarding position or application status.
