

The Department of Criminology & Criminal Justice at The University of Alabama invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor to begin August 2020. We are seeking someone whose research focuses on inequality in the criminal justice system, particularly related to one of the Department's areas of strength: (1) criminal justice systems (i.e. policing, courts, and corrections) and/or (2) transnational crime. Research focuses can include, but are not limited to, sentencing disparities, disparate treatment in prisons, racial profiling, disparities in detainment and arrest, crime in the Global South, immigration and crime, and inequalities as they relate to terrorism or cybercrime. Candidates should have an established research agenda, the potential to secure external funding, and a commitment to teaching and mentoring undergraduate and graduate students.

The Department of Criminology & Criminal Justice has a growing, research active faculty and strong Bachelor's and Master's degree programs. For additional information about our department, please visit our website at <http://cj.ua.edu>. The University of Alabama, founded in 1831, is the state's flagship institution with an enrollment of over 38,000 students. We are located in Tuscaloosa, AL, a vibrant community of over 100,000 residents that was named an All-America City by the National Civic League. For information about working at The University of Alabama see <http://provost.ua.edu/life-at-ua.html>.

To apply, candidates should go to <https://facultyjobs.ua.edu/postings/45858> to complete an online application and upload (1) a letter of application, (2) a curriculum vitae, and (3) a research statement. Letters of recommendation will be requested for finalists. Inquiries about the position should be sent to cjdept@as.ua.edu. Review of applications will begin October 11, 2019 and will continue until the position is filled. The University of Alabama is committed to affirmative action, equal opportunity, and the diversity of its workforce. Applications from women and minority candidates are strongly encouraged.